Let's Go to the Bank

This book belongs to

I wanted a new video game, so I asked my parents.

Do I look like I'm made of money?

Money doesn't grow on trees.

But how was I going to get my game?
"I think it's time to learn about money," my mom said.
"Let's go to the bank."

The bank was in a big building.

We walked up to the lady in charge of new accounts.

"A savings account is when you put money in the bank," the lady said.

"Like my piggy bank...?" I asked. "Better!" she said.
"Our bank pays you to keep your money here.
It's called interest."

But I didn't want to put my money in the bank. I like to play with it!

I like to spin my coins. And stack them and play heads or tails with them. And mostly, I like to spend them!

"Some people have a checking account," the new accounts lady said.

"You can also buy things with checks," she said, "and pay bills!"

My mom told me that I am going to get an allowance.

Which means every week, I will get some money...

I can buy anything I want...like candy and toys and bubble gum and crayons and ice cream and...and...

My mom said, "You have to promise to save some of it in your new savings account!"

I'm glad I got to learn about money.

I'm excited about getting an allowance every week.

And you always have to save
for a rainy day.
